INSTRUCTIONS CONCERNING MEAT INSPECTION.

Greater Care Required in Preparation of Meat Food Products.

The laboratory inspection has shown that at times sufficient care is not used in official establishments in preparing meat food products. Samples of oleostearin and lard stearin have been found to be distinctly dirty, as a result evidently of using unclean press cloths. At times pieces of fiber and tissue have been found in lard. Samples of sour lard have been reported to the Department, and upon investigation this condition has been found to be due to insufficient drying of the lard and to more or less careless handling and indifferent methods of manufacture. Inspectors in charge should at once take steps to prevent such occurrences.

Intestines and Abdominal Organs of Tubercular Carcasses.

Inspectors assigned to post-mortem work are advised that it is the intent of the present meat-inspection regulations to allow intestines and other abdominal organs usually devoted to food purposes to be passed in all cases of tubercular carcasses where no tuberculous lesions are discovered in the abdominal cavity and where the carcass is passed for food. In instances in which tuberculosis is found to exist within the liver or the portal glands it is assumed that this infection has gained its position only after passing through the walls of the intestines, in which case there is a possibility that the intestines themselves are harboring some of the germs, even though no visible lesions are present, and the intestines should not under these conditions be passed for food purposes.

Oleomargarin and Butterine Must Bear Inspection Legend.

Some establishments which operate under Federal inspection are preparing and shipping oleomargarin or butterine in wrappers on which there is no reference to Federal inspection. Oleomargarin or butterine is classed as a meat food product, and on and after July 1, 1908, the wrapper or true container thereof must be marked as required in Regulation 18, B. A. I. Order 150.

VIOLATION OF MEAT-INSPECTION LAW AND REGULATIONS PUNISHED.

Three men were recently convicted in the United States circuit court at Harrisburg, Pa., of violating the meat-inspection law by the interstate shipment of immature calves.

Inspection has been withdrawn from Establishment No. 280, the Henry Muhs Company, Paterson, N. J., because of violation of the meat-inspection regulations.

Samples of lard prepared by this company were found on chemical examination to be adulterated with beef fat, and the inspector in charge detected employees of the company in the act of dumping several barrels of low-grade inedible fat and scraps into the lard tank at the noon hour when the meat inspector and other employees were absent. It has also been reported that beef fat was added immediately after the inspectors had left in the evening and after work had been reported as concluded for the day.

VETERINARIANS WANTED FOR FIELD WORK.

Inspectors in charge of meat inspection are directed to forward at once to the Washington office the names of reliable and competent veterinarians on their forces whom they recommend for transfer to field work in tick eradication.

REPORTS OF SOUTHERN CATTLE RELOADED.

Until otherwise ordered, reports on I. D. Form 21 (cattle reloaded from southern cattle pens) should be made out in duplicate; the original should be forwarded to the Washington office in the past, and the duplicate should be mailed promptly to Mr. George C. Moser, room 328, Live Stock Exchange, Kansas City, Kans.

REPORT OF FORWARDING CARS FOR DISINFECTION.

Referring to paragraph 4 of the instructions printed on the back of I. D. Form 62A, the notice should include the route over which the car will be forwarded to the point at which it is to be cleaned and disinfected. This is especially important where there is more than one route between the two points.

DEFECTIVE COPIES OF CIRCULAR LETTER.

Some copies of circular letter ZYY-315, dated April 6, 1908, were erroneously printed on letter heads of the "U. S. Department of Agriculture, Supply Depot, Forest Service, Ogden, Utah." Bureau employees having copies of this letter on the above-described letter heads are directed to return them at once to the Washington office in envelopes marked "Communication." The name and post-office address of each such employee should accompany the circular letter, in order that another copy may be promptly furnished.

CIVIL-SERVICE RULE REGARDING RECOMMENDATIONS FOR PROMOTION.

The attention of all Bureau employees is directed to section 3 of Rule 11 of the United States Civil Service Commission, which reads as follows:

No recommendation for the promotion of a classified employee shall be considered by any officer concerned in making promotions, unless it be made by the person under whose supervision such employee has served; and such recommendation by any other person, if made with the knowledge and consent of the employee, shall be sufficient cause for debarring him from the promotion proposed, and a repetition of the offense shall be sufficient cause for removing him from the service.

INFORMATION DESIRED CONCERNING RESIGNATIONS.

Officers in charge, in forwarding to Washington the resignations of employees on their forces, should furnish with their recommendations all the information obtainable pertaining to such cases. It often happens that a person who has resigned from the service requests reinstatement, and it is essential that the Bureau be in possession of all the facts concerning the resignation in order to determine whether or not favorable consideration should be given the request for reinstatement.

PUBLICATIONS IN APRIL.

[Publications intended for employees are sent in bulk to inspectors in charge at the different stations, and no mailing list of individual employees is kept. Owing to the limited editions and the large number of Bureau employees, as a rule only sufficient copies are sent to supply the veterinarians. Inspectors in charge will therefore see that the veterinary inspectors are first supplied, and if more copies are received than are necessary for this purpose the excess may be distributed to others. Requests from employees for publications will be complied with as far as practicable. Regulations will be supplied to inspectors in charge as freely as may be required for official use.]

Circular 127. Tubercle Bacilli in Butter: Their Occurrence, Vitality, and Significance. By E. C. Schroeder and W. E. Cotton. Pp. 23.

Circular 129. Rabies and its Increasing Prevalence. By George H. Hart. Pp. 26, fig. 1.

Meat Inspection Rulings 3A. Suspends until May 1, 1908, enforcement of portion of paragraph 5, section 19, Regulation 25, B. A. I. Order 150, regarding denaturing of inedible grease, etc.

Amendment 2 to B. A. I. Order 145.—To Prevent the Spread of Scabies in Cattle. Releases from quarantine on account of this disease certain counties in Nebraska.

Amendment 1 to B. A. I. Order 150.—Regulations Governing the Meat Inspection of the United States Department of Agriculture. Amends section 19 of Regulation 25 by exempting shipments of certain inedible grease, tallow, or other fat from the provision requiring the denaturing of inedible products.
